CATHOLICS.

As this term is commonly used it applies to the Church of Rome, to the Eastern or Orthodox churches, and to the Old and Reformed Catholic bodies, which have lately arisen. As the result of a controversy beginning in the ninth century the christian church was divided into the Roman and Greek churches. The Church of Rome, which is the more numerous division, is officially called the "Holy Catholic, Apostolic, and Roman Church", and claims to be the only church founded by Christ. It has a hierarchy, including a pope, who is supreme pontiff, a college of cardinals, and numerous archbishops and bishops. Its doctrine is expressed in the ecumenical creeds, the Apostles', the Nicene (with the Filioque), and the Athanasian, and in the decrees of 20 ecumenical councils, the latest of which was that of the Vatican, in 1870. The Greek Church, whose full title is "Holy Orthodox, Catholic, Apostolic, Oriental Church", includes the Church of Russia, the Church of Greece, the Armenians, and various other divisions. The Orthodox or Eastern Church holds to the decrees and canons of the first 7 ecumenical councils, accepting the Nicene creed without the Latin Filioque. This creed is its chief doctrinal expression. Its highest officials are patriarchs. It has, besides, metropolitans or archbishops and bishops. The Uniates are Greek christians, who have acknowledged the supremacy of the pope. The Old and Reformed Catholics are bodies originating in this country in withdrawals from the Roman Church.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The first christian congregations organized in the territory now constituting the United States were those of the Roman Catholic faith. The oldest was established in St. Augustine, Fla., shortly after that settlement was founded in 1565. But Catholic services were held on Florida soil long before this date. Missionaries accompanied the Spanish expeditions of discovery and settlement in the first half century after Columbus made his first voyage to America, and these raised the cross and conducted divine worship. John Juarez, who had been appointed by the pope bishop of Florida, landed with the expedition of Narvaez in 1528, but is supposed to have been slain or to have perished from hunger the same year. After St. Augustine was established many companies of missionaries went out into Florida, Alabama, Georgia, and Carolina to labor among the Indians.

The second oldest town, Santa Fe, was founded by Spaniards in 1582. Missionaries in connection with Coronado's exploring expedition preached among the Indians of New Mexico 40 years earlier, but they soon perished. After the founding of Santa Fe, missionary work was more successful and many tribes of Indians accepted the Catholic faith. Franciscans established missions in California in 1691 and French priests held worship on Neutral island, on the coast of Maine, in 1609, and 3 years later on Mount Desert island. Jesuit missions, begun on the Upper Kennebec in 1646, were more successful and permanent, many Indian converts being among their fruits. In 1665 Catholics sought to convert the Onondagas and other tribes in New York. Similar attempts among the Great Lakes were made as early as 1641.

The history of the Catholic Church among the English colonists began with the immigration of English and Irish Catholics to Maryland in 1634. They founded the town of St. Marys the first year. Ten years later, as the result of a conflict with Protestant colonists, their privileges of worship were curtailed, but restored in 1646. A toleration act was passed by the legislature of Maryland in 1649, but it was repealed in 1654. The Catholics received their rights again in 1660, to be restricted again in 1704, and these restrictions were not entirely removed until the period of the war of Independence. In Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, and New England, severe laws were enforced against Catholics for many years. In New York, which is now the stronghold of Catholicism, there were, it is said, no more than 7 Catholic families in 1696, and the few Catholics found on Manhattan island 80 years later had to go to Philadelphia to receive the sacraments.

In 1784, at the close of the Revolutionary war, the pope appointed the Rev. John Carroll prefect apostolic. Before this date the Catholics in this country had been under the jurisdiction of the vicar apostolic of London, England. Six years later Dr. Carroll was consecrated bishop in London, and Baltimore became the first Catholic diocese. The new bishop estimated the number of Catholics in the United States at that time at about 30,000, of whom 16,000 were in Maryland and 7,000 in Pennsylvania. The rest were scattered over a broad territory stretching into the west as far as Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois. The church was gradually extended to Kentucky (1787), South Carolina (1789), Ohio, and other parts of the country. It grew rapidly when immigration set in from Ireland and Europe. This has been the chief cause of the rapid increase of the church in the last half century. In 1807 there were about 80 churches and a Catholic population of 150,000. In 1820 this population had doubled; in 1830 it had doubled again. In the next decade it increased from 600,000 to 1,500,000; in 1850 it had become 3,500,000; in 1860, 4,500,000; and in 1876, 6,500,000. These figures were given by the late Prof. A. J. Schem, who was regarded as good authority in church statistics. An immense territory was covered until 1808 by the single diocese of Baltimore. In that year Baltimore became a metropolitical see, with 4 suffragan bishops: New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Bardstown. The purchase of Louisiana in 1803 had added the diocese of New Orleans, which had been erected in that year. In 1846 Oregon city became a metropolitical see; in 1847 the same dignity was conferred on St. Louis, and in 1850 Cincinnati, New York, and New Orleans were erected into provinces. There are now 13 provinces, the metropolitan sees being those of Baltimore, Oregon, St. Louis, New Orleans, Cincinnati, New York, San Francisco, Santa Fe, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Boston,

Chicago, and St. Paul. Connected with these provinces are 66 dioceses, 5 vicariates apostolic, and 1 prefecture apostolic.

The doctrinal system of the Roman Catholic Church is embodied in the Apostles', Nicene, and Athanasian creeds, and the dogmatic decisions of the ecumenical councils from 325 to 1870. The doctrine of the church is that it consists of all who hold the true faith, receive the true sacraments, and acknowledge the rule of the pope of Rome as head of the church; while the bible, including the books commonly called apocryphal, is accepted as the word of God, the authority of ecclesiastical tradition is honored. The church is held to be infallible; the Virgin Mary, the saints, their pictures and reliques are venerated; 7 sacraments: baptism, the eucharist, confirmation, penance, extreme unction, ordination, and matrimony are administered; justification is held to be by faith and works conjoined; transubstantiation and the adoration of the elements, baptismal salvation, priestly absolution, the sacrifice of the mass, prayers for the dead, the immaculate conception of the Virgin Mary, a temporary place between heaven and hell for departed spirits, are also features of Catholic belief. The worship of the church is conducted in the Latin language, according to an established ritual, the mass occupying the central place in the services.

The government of the church is hierarchical. At its head is the pope with a college of cardinals. Next in order are archbishops, who are set over provinces, bishops who preside over dioceses, and various other ecclesiastical dignitaries, besides the heads of orders, monasteries, etc. In the ministering priesthood there are two orders, those of priest and deacon. The governing authority of each diocese is its bishop, who receives his ecclesiastical power from the pope. The government of the church in the United States is conducted through the propaganda at Rome, the United States being regarded for this purpose as missionary territory.

In the specially difficult task of gathering the statistics of the churches, chapels, missions, and stations of the various dioceses and vicariates, the archbishops, bishops, and other ecclesiastical officers have given their cordial co-operation. At the earnest request of the special agent of the Census Office they nominated to him suitable persons to do the work at his appointment and under his instruction, urged those in charge of congregations to give the information required, and most of them inspected and approved the final returns before they were certified and reported to the Census Office for acceptance.

Precisely the same inquiries were asked as are asked of other denominations. As the Roman Catholic Church always gives in its published annual statistics the number of baptized members, or population instead of communicants, the census appointee in each diocese was requested to comply with the requirements of the census schedules and furnish the number of communicants in order that the statistics of all the denominations might be uniform. This was done in every case. According to information received from bishops, it is the custom of the church for baptized persons to make their first communion between the ages of 9 and 11 years. Baptized persons below the age of 9 years are not included therefore in the census returns. Some ecclesiastical authorities estimate that members of this class constitute about 15 per cent of the population of the church, which, of course, embraces both baptized members and communicants.

In order that proper significance may be given to the figures representing the seating capacity of churches, chapels, etc., it will be necessary to take into consideration the fact that in populous places from 3 to 4, and sometimes as many as 6 or 7, services, or even more, are held in the same church on Sunday. In most Protestant churches there are 2 services only, and in some but 1 service. Separate services of the mass in Catholic churches are usually attended by different audiences. It may help to a better understanding of the matter to quote a few sentences from letters written by heads of dioceses.

Archbishop Elder, of Cincinnati, says:

The most of our churches have at least 2, often 3, and as many as 6 masses every Sunday, and each is attended by a different body of worshipers.

Archbishop Janssens, of New Orleans, speaks of from "2, 3, to 6 masses", and refers to the fact that many persons stand during service. In the archdiocese of Baltimore, according to the secretary of Cardinal Gibbons, there are usually 4 different congregations on Sunday in a single edifice. In the archdiocese of Boston there are 5 services in the cathedral, which has a communicant membership of 12,000, and reports 2,600 seating capacity. Archbishop Corrigan, of New York, says the "same space is used over and over again by different worshipers at different hours". An examination of the returns for that see shows that of 77 churches in the city of New York 1 has 1 service of the mass, 6 have 2 services, 4 have 3, 12 have 4, 17 have 5, 22 have 6, 10 have 7, 3 have 8, 1 has 9, and 1 has 10 every Sunday. Of an equal number of churches in the rural part of the archdiocese 26 have 1 mass, 24 have 2 masses, 11 have 3, 4 have 6, and 1 has 5 every Sunday; 4 have mass twice a month, and 5 have it once a month. Bishop McGovern, of Harrisburg, says:

It is true there are many services in our churches, but each service is not always attended by persons who were not at another service. Some persons attend all the services. Then, again, in some of the churches many stand up for want of seats.

Bishop Phelan, of Pittsburgh, writes:

We have in this diocese about 140 churches. In some there is 1, in many 2, in some 3, and in a couple even 4 morning services (masses) every Sunday. The afternoon or evening services should not count, as these worshipers are, or ought to be, the same who were present in the forenoon.

The use made of the accommodations for worshipers is also indicated by the number of communicants belonging to a parish. In many cases from 8,000 to 15,000 communicants are reported for a single parish. In 1 diocese there is a parish consisting entirely of Poles, which has 17,490 communicants, who are accommodated in a single church with a seating capacity of 1,900. Here the proportion of communicants to seating capacity is almost as 9 to 1. But this is an extreme case. The following table will show the average in the several archdioceses. The seating capacity is for church edifices only, exclusive of halls and schoolhouses, and the communicants are those belonging to parishes having church edifices.

ARCHDIOCESES.	Seating capacity of church edifices.	Communicants or members.

It will be observed that the proportion of communicants to seating capacity varies in the different archdioceses. In Baltimore, Boston, and Chicago it is less than 3 to 1; in New York, more than 3 to 1; in New Orleans, nearly 4 to 1; in Oregon, Philadelphia, St. Paul, and San Francisco, upward of 2 to 1; in Cincinnati and Milwaukee, less than 2, while in Santa Fe it is less than 1. The average in the 13 metropolitan sees is about 2.25 to 1.

The total number of communicants is 6,231,417, who are attached to 10,231 organizations (churches, chapels, and stations), making an average of 609 communicants to each congregation. Of the 10,231 organizations, 1,469, or about 14.36 per cent, worship in halls, schoolhouses, or private houses, which, exclusive of private houses, represent a seating capacity of 69,159, while the 8,776 church edifices owned by the church have a seating capacity of 3,365,754, making a total of 3,434,913 for the whole church, which is somewhat more than half the number of communicants. Some of the parishes which have no church edifices, but use temporarily such accommodations as private houses can afford, are very large. One of these parishes reports no fewer than 14,000 communicants. In 8 of the 85 sees, including the archdioceses of New Orleans and Philadelphia, every organization has its own church edifice.

The total value of church property, including church edifices, the ground on which they stand, furniture, bells, etc., is $118,069,746. The metropolitan see of New York, with its 472,806 communicants, has church property valued at nearly $9,000,000; that of Chicago comes second, with property worth $6,457,064, and that of Boston third, with a total of $6,379,078. Brooklyn comes fourth, with a valuation of $5,751,907, and Newark fifth, with $4,297,482. These 5 sees have more than one-fourth of the entire valuation.

In the distribution of communicants, the archdiocese of New York comes first, with 472,806; Boston second, with 419,660; Chicago third, with 326,640; Philadelphia fourth, with 251,162; Brooklyn fifth, with 228,785; St. Paul sixth, with 203,484, and Baltimore seventh, with 176,578. There are 22 sees which contain upward of 100,000 communicants each.

In the tabulation by states the following facts appear: there are 959 organizations, with 1,153,130 communicants, in the state of New York (7 dioceses), and the value of church property is $25,769,478; in the state of Massachusetts (2 dioceses) there are 614,627 communicants, belonging to 381 organizations, with church property valued at $9,816,003; in the state of Pennsylvania (5 dioceses), 551,577 communicants, 654 organizations, and $10,068,770 of church property; in the state of Illinois (4 dioceses), 473,324 communicants, 688 organizations, and church property valued at $9,946,819; in the state of Ohio (3 dioceses), 336,114 communicants, 586 organizations, and $7,395,640 of church property. In these 5 states there are 3,128,772 communicants, or a little more than one-half of the total for the whole church, and there is church property of the value of $62,996,710, which is considerably more than half of the total valuation.

The church is represented in every state and territory in the country, including Alaska and the District of Columbia. It has organizations in every county but 1 in the 6 New England states; also in every county in New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin, and other states and territories. The distribution of the church among the 5 groups of states is as follows:

Embracing immigrants from nearly all the countries of Europe, the Roman Catholic is a polyglot church. Confessions are heard, among other languages, in German, Polish, Lithuanian, Hungarian, Bohemian, French, Spanish, and Italian. In the diocese of Scranton there are 7 Polish, 7 German, 4 Hungarian, 1 Lithuanian, 1 Polish and Lithuanian, and Italian, besides English congregations.

GREEK CATHOLIC CHURCH (UNIATES).

The Greek Catholic Church, commonly called Uniates, represents a body quite numerous in Austria, Hungary, and other eastern countries in Europe. They are in communion with the Church of Rome, holding, contrary to the other Greek churches of the east, to the procession of the Holy Spirit from the Son as well as from the Father, in accordance with the belief of the Latin Church, but maintaining otherwise their ancient discipline, allowing the lower clergy to marry, administering the communion in both kinds (bread and wine) to the laity, and using the Greek language in its ritual. The congregations, whose statistics are given herewith, are not ecclesiastically connected with any of the dioceses of the Roman Catholic Church, and are not therefore included in the preceding tables.

RUSSIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH.

The full title of this body is the "Holy Orthodox, Catholic, Apostolic, Oriental Church". It arose in the middle ages from the Filioque controversy, there being a difference of doctrine between the eastern and western christians of Europe concerning the procession of the Holy Spirit. The western church maintains that the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son; the eastern that the procession is from the Father alone. The chief governing body of the Russian branch of the Greek church is the holy synod at St. Petersburg. The churches of this faith in California and Alaska are under the ecclesiastical oversight of Bishop Vladimir, of San Francisco, and many of them are supported financially by the imperial government of Russia.

ARMENIAN CHURCH.

The Armenian Church of Turkey is separate from both the Latin and Greek Catholic churches. As many Armenians have come to this country, congregations of them have been gathered during the past 10 years in New York, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island. They have no churches of their own, but meet for worship in chapels owned by the Protestant Episcopal Church. Their services are held in the Armenian language.

OLD CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The Old Catholic churches in this country are part of the Old Catholic movement in Europe, with which they are in sympathy in doctrine and polity. They have a bishop elect, not yet consecrated, who received orders in Switzerland as deacon and priest in 1885 at the hands of the Old Catholic bishop of Berne, in that city. They hold that the pope is a bishop simply, but is entitled to the primacy of honor. They agree with the Greek Church in rejecting Filioque in the creed, acknowledge 7 sacraments, revere the monastic life, and venerate saints, angels, and sacred icons.

REFORMED CATHOLIC CHURCH.

This movement began some 10 or 12 years ago in New York city. It renounces allegiance to the pope, and differs in doctrine, polity, and usage from the Roman Catholic Church. It has congregations in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Illinois.
